

The Late Carl Weber

Mr. Carl Weber, who passed away at his residence, Corrimal, last week after an illness which caused him broken health for some years, was a prominent figure in this district as a road engineer and surveyor; not a little of the earlier road work in this and other districts was of his designing. His most notable work was the lay-out of the Macquarie Pass road, an admirable grading achievement. Mr. Weber, in fact, earned a high reputation as a roads grader. The late John Brown, of Dapto, esteemed him one of the best in the State. Another road he laid out which has never been faulted was that to Kembla Heights. He it was also who formed the Bulli Pass Lookout, which for years after was known as Weber's Lookout. Unfortunately for himself, Mr. Weber did not profit as much by his good works as their merits deserved. He was of a rather retiring than a self asserting disposition; at all events, there is to his memory much good practical work in the opening of this and other districts for settlement. He had in his ill health the affectionate attendance of his daughters. His sons, Mr. Arnold Weber, master of the Wolumla School; Mr. William Weber, now a prominent Corrimal resident, and Mr. G. Weber, a returned soldier, now farming on the Far South Coast, are wellknown.
