

THE EYESIGHT.—Spectacles.—Mr. DE LISSA'S valuable tinted lenses, entirely superseding every other kind of glasses now in use. They modify the rays of light in their transmission to the eye, keeping it in its required temperature, and thus assist it in its power to strengthen and preserve it, at the same time possessing such extraordinary power and brilliancy that the most aged and defective sight is brought to its youthful, natural, and original state.

To COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS.—Mr. De L. has daily painful cases come under his notice, where sight has been prematurely lost by the use of bad and unsuitable glasses, imprudently purchased from hawkers and pedlars, and in miscellaneous shops. Persons residing in the country, by sending their age and the number of inches from the eye to the paper they can see to read this advertisement without glasses, can depend on being properly suited, and having spectacles sent (post free) and changed if not suited to the sight. A large assortment of spectacles and folders, in panoptic frames of steel, silver, gold, and tortoiseshell, to suit every sight. Mr. DE LISSA, optician, 86, Castle-reagh-street, between King and Market streets. At home from 10 till 6.
